County sets policy for closing shore allowances

Investigators from the Ontario Provincial Police probed the ruins of a cabin Monday morning in Haliburton. The investigation followed a fire which destroyed the structure, part of the Silver Maple Motel. As a result, the man who was living in the cabin has been charged with arson. details on page 7.

County wide disaster plan planned by emergency agencies

The meeting was not a disaster but it was about it.

Close to 100 people from a variety of safety and public service organizations throughout the county attended a meeting May 21 called by the Minden detachment of the OPP. The gathering at the PineStone Inn was the first step in a co-ordinated disaster plan for the county.

The audience viewed a graphic, and at times gruesome, slide presentation depicting the events following the crash of an Air Canada DC 8 jet near Toronto International Airport. The catastrophe took the lives of all 104 people on board and brought to light the fact that the Toronto area lacked a planned response to disasters of this magnitude.

The slide presentation illustrated the problems which the OPP, as the co-ordinating agency, ran into in attempting to deal with the air crash.

According to Minden detachment commander, Sergeant Bill Bailey, who was also a member of the Malton Detachment at the time of the air crash, the police were unprepared for a disaster of that magnitude. "...however, now we are."

The sergeant described how each detachment in the province has what was described as a "vital services directory", a listing of all the services the police may require in the time of an emergency. In addition the OPP has established a number of disaster kits throughout the province. These kits include essential equipment needed to establish a working centre for disaster relief. Contained in tractor trailer units, these kits can be moved quickly to any location in Ontario at a moment's notice.

The sergeant told the gathering that the disaster in Toronto indicated the need for a plan in that community, and he felt a co-ordinated approach was also needed in Haliburton.

One of those in attendance pointed out that the plane crash in Toronto happened in a farmer's field and that access by road was particularly easy. The questioner wondered if there were any preparations made locally for reaching a disaster site in some of the more remote parts of the county. The Sergeant commented that part of the vital services directory includes a listing of road building equipment in the county. "If it were necessary, we are prepared to build a road to the site of a disaster," the sergeant stated.

Sergeant Bailey told the meeting that part of the holding pattern for aircraft waiting to land at Toronto International Airport, is over Haliburton County. He said this factor must be taken into consideration when preparing contingency plans for a disaster.

Those in attendance agreed that a plan should be drafted for the county and a meeting of those in charge of various emergency services will be held in the next few weeks.

Sergeant Bailey described the meeting as a complete success. He said the number of individuals attending was greater than he had anticipated and suggested that this was a positive sign in any co-operative effort that may emerge from the follow-up meetings.

Attending were representatives of county doctors, nurses, health unit, ambulance services, fire brigades, hospitals, Ministry of Transportation and Communications, undertakers, Ministry of Natural Resources and others.

law is accepted.

According to the resolution approved by the heads of the municipal council, the extension of the lot line to the water's edge is to proceed at right angles to the present front lot line. This portion of the resolution was included to eliminate the problem of extending existing lot lines which could, in some instances, eliminate some property holders from access to the waterfront.

The funds raised through the sale of the lake frontage are to be used for the purchase of right of ways within the township. The municipalities will be free to use the interest earned on this money for road and park purposes within its jurisdiction.

Provision was also included in the by-law to permit the municipality to acquire title to an existing public road to the rear of property where the shore allowance is being closed. This acquisition right is similar to that now exercised by municipalities when granting severances.

While the policy will apply to all the townships in the county, the question of allowing the closure of shoreline frontage will still rest with the municipal councils. If the municipalities opt to allow the closings, they will be required to follow the terms as set out in the county by-law.

Naturally, in some cases where the shore allowance is used for access to other properties, unless another access route is found, the closure will not be permitted.

Donald Von Blitzen (Derek Smith), left, shares a glass of wine with his startled house guest, Frank Sterling (Dale McConnell). Von Blitzen's maid, Gretchin Twitchell (Cathy Sterling) is also startled as another ear splitting scream shatters the stillness of the castle. The screams, humorous and ghoulish, are part of the Highland Players production of The Creature Creeps. The play opens Thursday night at the high school and continues until Saturday.

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

If you missed this column over the last two weeks we apologize but we were away at a special course at Waterloo University designed to assist those involved in industrial development projects. In our case the cost was gratefully subsidized by a scholarship grant from the Ministry of Industry & Tourism.

Industrial Development officers from almost every province in Canada were in attendance and it was most enlightening to delve into each others problems and possible solutions. One thing became very apparent. Areas with certainly no worse development factors than ours were getting very substantial federal assistance through D.R.E.E. funding. Sherbrooke, Quebec for instance had their industrial park completely serviced with sewers and water supplies by D.R.E.E. and were now selling this serviced industrial land at the unbelievably low price of $10,000 per acre. Without such assistance it becomes almost impossible to compete with areas that have when all other things are equal. Our county representatives are presenting their case in Ottawa this week and we sincerely hope they are successful in their persuasions.

We've been hiring people

The Chamber has been busy interviewing candidates for a number of positions this summer. We have, of course, been using the services of our Canada Manpower Outreach Centre, as we hope all of you are doing, to locate potential employees.

The information centres in both the Chamber office and the Haliburton "Caboose" qualify for a Travel Counsellor each under the Experience 80 program and with these students commencing their duties both centres can remain open a full seven days a week. The Ministry of Housing also provides us with two students under Experience 80 and they will be assisting Minden's Business Improvement Area committee with communication among the involved businesses. There are some other related surveys that they also will be working on to provide us with information on which to base future decisions.

The Haliburton County Economic Development Commission, which is administered by the Chamber are employing four students under the Summer Youth Employment Program to complete what is called a "Community Profile". This will involve putting together a very detailed inventory of all the economic factors in the entire county. Information on commercial or industrial property, the zoning, taxes, services available, prices, etc. will all be categorized along with other relevant factors in the community it is located. This will provide us with the basis for information requested by potential industrial clients, and put us in a much better position to handle inquiries.

In addition to all of these temporary positions we are pleased to announce that Elaine Blakey has now been given the position of Office Manager for our office - welcome centre, and she will be assisted by Mrs. Carol Dunham who is now joining our year-round staff. With this re-organization it is hoped we can better serve our membership and the community as a whole.

How much does "Manpower" cost

Don Pollock, an executive from private enterprise, was appointed to head a Canada Manpower Commission to investigate whether or not we are getting our money's worth from the programs. He revealed that in Ontario alone 400 million dollars annually are expended on these programs, with about an even split of Federal and Provincial contribution. We would certainly agree it is none too soon to look at whether we are getting what we are paying for. Think of it -- 400 million dollars.

Anyone heard of Kagawong?

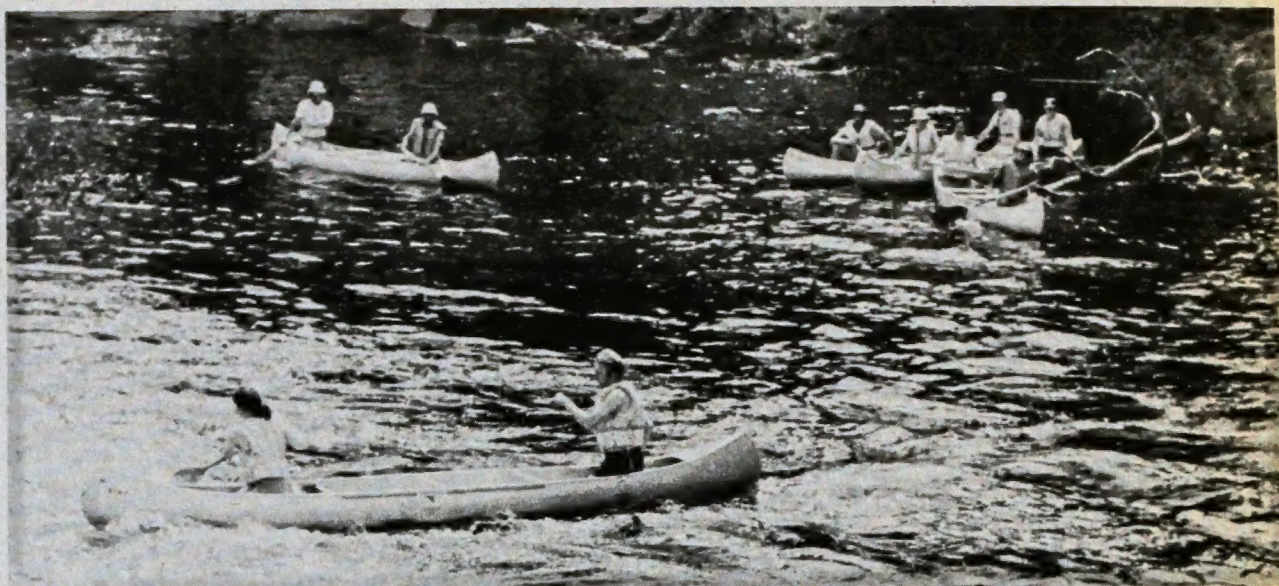

We have received a letter at the Chamber from a party in Colorado who wishes to reach someone who was involved with a Camp Kagawong in the late 40's or early 50's. We have no records of it so we thought some of our readers might. If you can help, give us a call at the Chamber, 286-1760.

Cheers for "No"

Haliburton County Council has added its voice to those across the country cheering the outcome of the Quebec referendum.

A letter addressed to Prime Minister Trudeau and the leader of the Liberal Party in Quebec, Claude Ryan, is to be sent from the council, congratulating them and their federalist supporters, on the win May 20.

The county resolution also urged the Prime Minister and all provincial governments to move quickly toward the creation of a new constitution for Canada.

Students from the Seneca College whitewater canoe course take advantage of some fast water below Mountain Lake for beginner training. The class and instructor were in the county during the weekend for the practical portion of the continuing education class.

Board to study report before revealing contents

A report prepared by the Ontario government on the operation of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home in Minden will not be made public until the board of management members have had an opportunity to study its findings. The report was tabled at the May 21 meeting of County Council, and while the chairman of the management committee, Snowden Reeve Bob Vick, refused to release details of the document, committee member Ron Gambell, Reeve of Lutterworth Township, commented on a few items in the report.

Gambell noted that the study, carried out at the request of the management committee by the Ministry of Community and Social Services, identified problems of communications between various departments at the home. He said the report pointed out there were no guidelines for the board of management to follow in its task of overseeing the operation of the home. "The report recommends that set policies be established for the board," Gambell told the councillors.

The reeve commented that the report indicates the problems identified in the study can be overcome.

Minden Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt asked if the administrator of the home should not be responsible for ensuring that the various departments work together. Gambell admitted it was the administrator's responsibility, but that due to the lack of set policies, he was not receiving the necessary direction from the board of management.

Gambell noted that the report said the staff at the home were, in general, doing a good job. He suggested that the management board should get together with the administrator and the heads of the various departments in an effort to resolve some of the problems which were identified in the report.

Chairman of the management board, Bob Vick, described the comments as "premature". He said he wanted more time to study the thick report before commenting on the recommendations. The chairman also decided that the report would not be made public until the board of management had had sufficient time to study the contents.

No need to start liming yet says MOE spokesman

While lakes in the Highlands may be threatened by acid rain, according to Ministry of Environment's leading spokesman Dr. Tom Brydges, the situation is not as urgent as some people have indicated.

Brydges was speaking to the May 21 meeting of County Council. He had agreed to speak to the municipal politicians after a resolution was passed at the April meeting requesting that a liming program be undertaken by the county and ministry to combat the acid rain problems. "Statistics show that our lakes are not changing in a rapid way," Brydges told the council. "What we see is 'acid stress' during the spring run off. None of the lakes in the county are acid all year long," he said. "The fish can still survive."

The MOE scientist told the councillors that there is much which is still unknown about the impact of acid rain. He said the ministry is just completing its second year of study into the problems related to the fish population and to do something now would be premature.

Brydges narrated a slide presentation of the liming program currently underway in Sweden, a country that has been dealing with the effects of acid rain for the past 15 years. He noted that their program, though successful in some areas, does not solve the problem. He said the only answer to acidification of the waterways is abatement at the source. "Sweden is facing a very serious problem in this regard because there are ten countries to the south of Sweden which contribute to the acid rain. Some of them are behind the Iron Curtain. Getting the agreement of all these nations in an abatement program is much more difficult than when just two nations are involved," he commented.

Since the Swedes were unable to obtain the necessary co-operation from their neighbours, they have turned to liming as the only resort. Brydges pointed out that in some instances the liming program has left upper reaches of some streams devoid of life so the lower portions of the watershed could be protected.

The scientist said Sweden has a liming program for 500 to 700 of its waterbodies. This represents only 10% of the lakes in the country. He also pointed out that the country is well served by roads making it easier to move the large amounts of lime needed to neutralize the lakes.

Brydges noted that despite the treatment carried out in Sweden, depression in the pH readings of Swedish lakes still occur each spring.

"Liming is not something to be undertaken lightly," he told the council. "There are many scientific questions that must be answered before such a program should be tried here."

He said that reaching an abatement agreement between Canada and the United States is, "absolutely essential."

Brydges estimated that the liming program could cost between $10 and $30 per year per acre of lake surface in areas easily reached by truck and upwards to $125 per acre per year in remote parts of the county.

Test lake suggested

Michael Collins, who has been active with the Haliburton County Anti-Pollution Committee, suggested to the meeting that the MOE and the county attempt a liming of one lake as a test program. Collins has proposed that the placing of crushed limestone around the perimeter of the frozen surface of a lake during the winter months, would be a method of protecting the water body from acid rain. "I'm not 'sold' on waiting until a lake is actually dead before doing something about saving it," Collins commented. He said the impact is not just on the lake itself but on the wildlife around the lake that eat and drink from the water.

"The theory that we are about to stop the United States pollution which creates acid rain is a wild dream," Collins commented. "I wouldn't depend on it. If we don't do something about this problem now, we'll end up in as drastic situation as the Swedes are now in." Collins predicted a drastic increase in the amount of effluent coming from United States sources in the coming years.

Brydges reiterated that MOE studies have not shown any rapid acidification of area lakes. He said there was still time to assess the scientific data before embarking on any program of liming. However, the scientist also predicted that some sort of program involving the use of lime will have to be started in the next few years if attempts at abatement do not prove successful.

The members of county council reviewed a resolution passed earlier this year calling on the federal and provincial governments to attempt to reach an agreement with the United States authorities. This motion was reaffirmed.

Closings common in Somerville

At least one township in Victoria County has found that closing the 66 foot shore allowance between private property and the high water mark of the Gull River is an easy task.

According to the clerk treasurer of Somerville Township, Mike McBride, the township has been closing the 66 foot allowance along the river since 1977. The procedure has the approval of the Ministry of Housing, the Ministry of Natural Resources, as well as the county. McBride noted, in an interview last week, that there is access by a road at the rear of the property, to the lots in question. He said there was no need for the township to continue to retain control of the frontage.

At the May 6 meeting of Somerville Township council two by-laws approving the closing and sale of the property to the adjacent landowners were approved.

McBride said the township relied on the property owners to come to an agreement as to where the lot lines should be placed on the allowance. He said that the individuals who are purchasing the property must bear the preparation costs including the survey and transfer expenses. The township levies a fee of 20 cents per foot of water frontage to cover administration costs.

The closing of the shore allowance along the Gull River in Somerville Township has been a policy since 1977. Councillor Boyd Austin explained that the Ministry of Natural Resources had applied to the township in 1975 to close a portion of the shore allowance for its own purposes. The township council at the time agreed, provided that approval for other closings along the river would also be granted. According to Austin there was some reluctance on the part of the government agency to agree with those terms, but eventually they did. The Ministry of Housing added its own approval in 1977 and the township has been closing the allowance and selling it to adjacent landowners since then.

Hustlers open with two wins

Jack Snell led the Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers to their first win of the season May 20. The local squad trounced Bobcaygeon 8-2 in the season opener played out of town. Bernie Nichols and Dave Dollo connected for home runs for the team.

The second game saw Craig Stamp on the mound for the Hustlers. They defeated the Lindsay Juniors by a 6-1 margin in Lindsay.

The Hustlers open their home season tonight (May 28) at the Minden Ball diamond. Fenelon Falls is in town. The team returns the favour June 2 as they travel to Fenelon. The Lindsay Juniors are here June 4.

Recreation in the Highlands

A phenomenon has been taking place in Haliburton County during the past few years, one that many people have not noticed in its totality, but one that could have a long term impact on the economy.

During that time the area has increasingly become a centre for myriad forms of organized recreational activities.

Of course, it is not unusual for people to think of recreation when they think of this county. Along with Muskoka, Haliburton has been "cottage country" for generations of southern city residents. But cottager recreation is usually the lolling about, casual sort of activity which befits a vacation home.

The sort of organized recreation we are referring to draws hundreds of people to Haliburton County on a weekend for a single event or series of events. It is the sort of thing that can make enthusiasts of one stripe or another drive hundreds of miles just to be able to participate or watch a particular sport or activity. For example:

- over 240 riders took part in the Corduroy Enduro last September. Most of those participating brought relatives and friends.

- the Horseshoe Lake rapids have now become the centre of attention for white water canoe and kayak enthusiasts in Canada.

- the Stanhope airport is about to become a base for a parachute training school.

- the Haliburton Highland School of Fine Arts features numerous courses and attractions throughout the summer months, not to mention the interest and activity sustained throughout the year by the Guild.

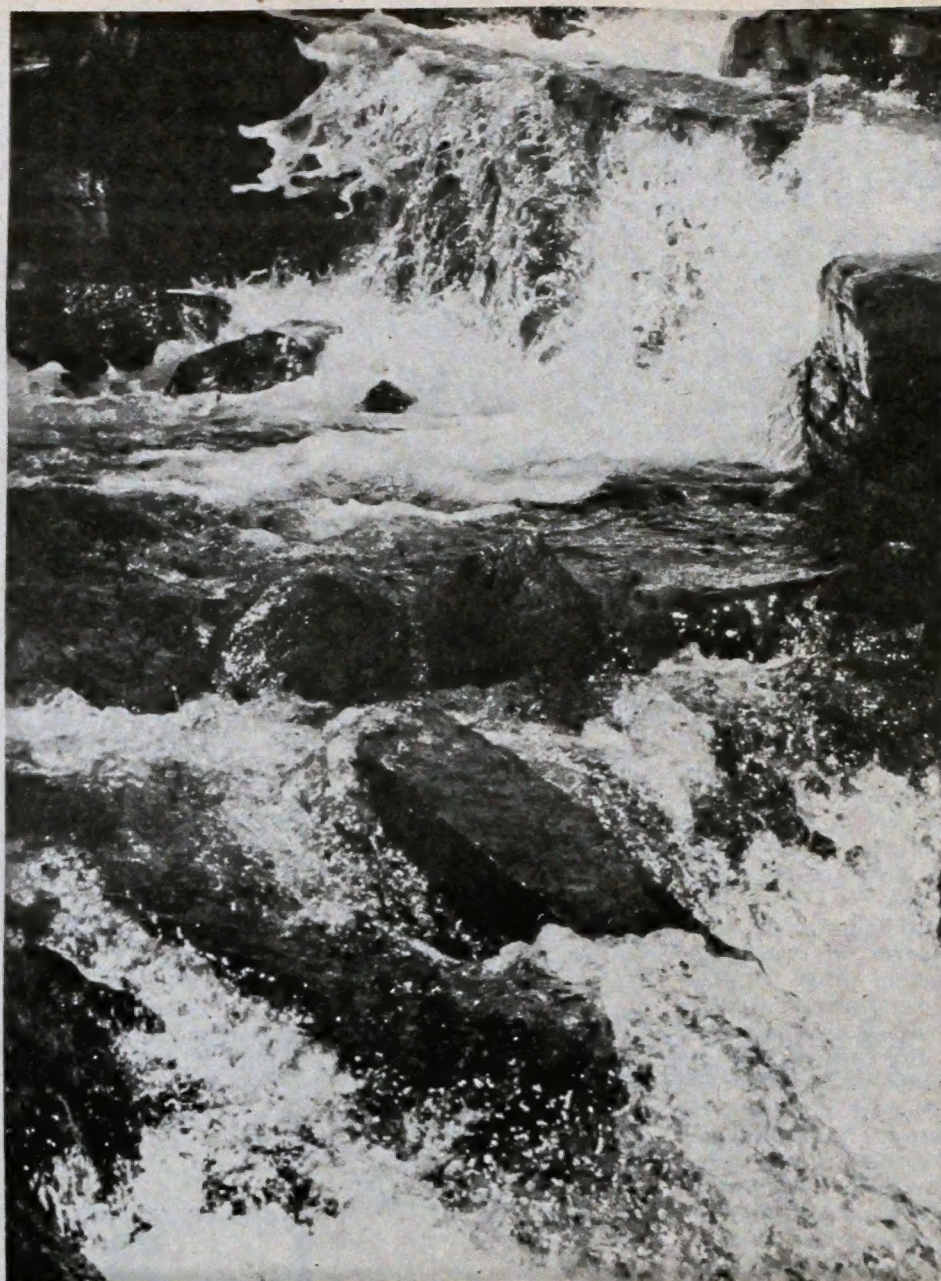

- the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association grooms and maintains an ever-expanding network of trails throughout the county.

- the cross country ski trail system is growing as well.

These facilities and activities, as well as many others which exist or are in the planning stage, draw people to the county and in many instances make it the focus of attention for countless others who do not attend.

Haliburton County has become, not only a centre for personal recreation like that enjoyed by the cottager, but is also rapidly becoming a centre for more structured and diverse kinds of activities. It is a trend that should be encouraged.

While we all share the hope that industrial development will take place in the Highlands, we should certainly not ignore this area's potential for organized recreation. With proper co-ordination and promotion, this area could become a Canadian centre for a wide variety of recreational activities.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

On May 7 I took part in the debate on Confederation in the Ontario Legislature. I felt very proud to take part as your representative, and if anyone would like a copy of my remarks, please contact my constituency office.

This was probably the first time in Ontario's history that a week was set aside to debate a particular issue, and of course this was a most important one. The three separate and distinct parties of this parliament had the courage and the will to set aside our partisanship and rise above our differences in our own province, to make a united and a strong and vigorous appeal to the residents of Quebec.

I said during the debate that if there has ever been a reason why we should set aside our concerns for our own political careers, our own futures, it is for this reason: Canada as a united nation is more important than any party in political office. It is the cause we must concern ourselves with now above every other cause.

The crisis of Confederation is not merely a simple internal political problem to be resolved by Quebec alone while the rest of Canada acts

Shore Allowance policy

The following policy on the closing of lakefront shore allowances in the county was approved at the May 21 meeting of county council. The policy will be used in townships where the municipal councils have agreed to permit the closing of the 66 foot shore allowance on lakes and rivers.

WHEREAS it is deemed expedient for Municipalities to close and deed their rights in the original lakeshore allowance: THEREFORE be it resolved that the Municipality of Dysart hereby recommends to the Council of the County of Haliburton for endorsement the following conditions:

1. That original lakeshore allowances be deeded to the abutting owners at the Municipality's discretion by By-Law - said by-law to be confirmed by the County, provided the allowance deeded is perpendicular to the lot line and not an extension of the lot lines.

2. The closure deeding is not in any manner a part of an original road allowance that blocks suitable and sufficient access to a lake or an adjoining property owner's access.

3. That a uniform fee structure be used throughout the County by the municipalities involved unless there are trade-offs or different circumstances affecting the individual case, in which cases the reason is to be explained to the County and if deemed reasonable the by-law is to be confirmed. The suggested fee structure payable to the municipality is $250.00 for each individual lot up to 150' of frontage, and at the rate of $1.00 per foot for each additional foot closed beyond the 150' for each owner, plus administration fee. In addition the adjacent landowner shall pay all legal and survey costs. The County is to receive the revenue if the shoreline being closed abuts County roads; otherwise the funds are to accrue to the applicable township.

4. That a by-law be passed and endorsed by the Ministry of Treasury governing the expenditures of any revenue received for property sales, said monies not to be used for anything other than road right-of-ways that must be purchased. The interest accruing from any revenue can be used for road or park purposes at the liberty and during the term and at the discretion of Council.

5. Where the Municipality does not have title to the existing public road at the rear of the lot requesting closure and sale, a quit claim deed for 33 feet from centre line will be required from the owner of the lot in question prior to aforesaid closure.

The right policy

Congratulations are in order for the Haliburton County Council for the speed with which they endorsed a policy for the sale of the 66 foot shore allowance.

The policy, printed elsewhere on this page, is a fair one. It spells out clearly the terms under which the county will accept the closing of lakefront allowances and eliminates possible conflicts that could have arisen between adjacent landowners.

As we mentioned in this column several weeks ago, there was a growing desire on the part of the lakefront landowners to acquire the shore allowance. It would have been unfair to procrastinate, particularly when some township councils have already indicated their willingness to proceed with the disposal of the land.

The setting of the policy gives the lakefront property owners an opportunity to consider the options. In particular, during the summer months, when most of them are in the area, they will have the opportunity to begin the long and tedious process of acquiring legal title to the land up to the shoreline.

Editor:

In regards to your article titled "Storm raised over cement plant", let it be known that it is not a cement plant, nor is it a Ready Mix Plant as your Town Council tries to claim. It is a batching plant only.

Also, we would like at this time to clarify that Mr. Sinclair Nesbitt had nothing to do with this operation. He rented the property to us for a batching plant that is zoned commercial; and for building materials our lawyer and our Company feel is justly zoned for our operation.

Also, we would like to inform Mr. Pritchard that these batching plants operate in all major, often densely populated, cities and towns in Canada and there is no dust flying all over the place as he seems to think.

We trust this will help clear up a few misinforming facts previously stated.

Tree hung up on Hall's Lake hydro lines

Stanhope firefighters were called to the Highlands Road east of Hall's Lake Sunday afternoon to deal with a tree with a hangup. The tree was the victim of the winds and fell across the roadway, the upper branches becoming tangled in the hydro wires. The limbs caused a short in the electrical service and a minor fire. Residents on the east side of the lake were without electrical power for a short time while the line was repaired. A hydro employee, right, takes a chain saw to the errant tree in an effort to correct the situation.

Local MNR staff called for fire duty in northern Ont.

Firefighters from the Minden district office of the Ministry of Natural Resources have been called into as a spectator. This crisis involves all Canadians in a way that no other event in our nation's history has, up until now. For the rest of Canada to maintain a passive role during this time would be tantamount to surrendering to the break-up of their family.

I am delighted that the majority of our friends in Quebec have voted for Canada. We must be sure that the results do not lull us into complacent satisfaction with the status quo. The desire for change is not restricted to Quebec, but finds expression in many ways in many parts of Canada.

My colleagues in the Official Opposition have already expressed their desire to fully co-operate by joining with other parties in the Legislature in the creation of a select committee to consider what new constitutional arrangements are appropriate for the Canada of today and of tomorrow.

We approach the challenge of constitutional change with an open mind and heart. The results have an important double message - a vote of confidence and the challenge of a lifetime. I am sure our country will respond and our country will flourish.

service in northern Ontario. The three regular crews and one auxiliary unit from the local office have been assisting fire fighting efforts in the Red Lake-Dryden area and near Chapleau.

The crews, consisting of four firefighters and a leader, have been called into service as tinder dry conditions in the northern part of the province created what many have described as the worst fire season in recent memory.

One of the crews has been in the north for 25 days. Two other crews returned to Minden May 18, but after only a few days here were ordered back to the fires and returned north on Wednesday. The auxiliary fire fighting unit, formed last week to cover for the crews taken north, left on the weekend.

In addition to the fire crews, six other members of the district office staff have been drafted for back-up services on the fire scene.

A system of borrowing fire crews and other staff members has been established by the ministry to meet emergency conditions in certain areas.

The Minden district office established three fire crews at the start of the season. All these crews have been sent north and the county's forest fire protection is now being supplied by two auxiliary crews which were being formed Tuesday morning.

Hugh Allore, who is now in charge of the fire crew at the Minden office noted that last week the fire danger rating in the county moved from low to extreme in a three day period. He said the low humidity, drying winds and almost constant sunshine were responsible for the rapid change in conditions.

The Minden crew were called to a fire on an island on Kennis Lake last week. The fire destroyed about a half an acre of timber before it was extinguished. There is concern that the fire may be continuing to burn underground on the island and ministry personnel are continuing to monitor the situation in case there is any further outbreak.

In addition the MNR crews were called to a one and a half acre blaze on Raven Lake near Dorset during the weekend, and a four acre fire near Lochlin. Both fires are under control.

The fire danger rating on Tuesday remained extreme with caution advised for anyone entering the bush.

First dive for SCUBA class

The south end of Halls Lake was speckled with shiny black-suited creatures Sunday afternoon.

The event was not an invasion from outer (or inner) space, as it might have appeared to the casual observer, but rather the first open water dive for 16 graduates of a SCUBA course held during the winter months. The dive was also the first for members of the Haliburton County Dive Club.

Each of the neophyte divers, who have been training in the pool at PineStone during the winter months, was accompanied underwater for their first dive by an experienced diver. The divers were examined for their confidence and competence underwater.

The course was being taught by John Lawson.

Each of the divers must complete four open water dives before they receive certification as a SCUBA diver.

5 from HHSS chosen for regional games

Five Haliburton Highland Secondary School students have advanced to the Eastern Ontario Regional track and field competition this Saturday in Trenton.

The five were members of the HHSS team which placed third among 'A' division schools attending the Kawartha championship held at Trent University. The boys contingent placed first in the

'A' schools.

For the young athletes, it means they are just one step away from the All Ontario competition which takes place in Toronto in June.

Winning the right to attend the regional finals in Trenton, which will attract athletes from Ottawa Valley and all of eastern Ontario, are: Mike Hatkoski who placed first in junior boys javelin and first in pole vault; Signe Tashlin who placed first in the midget girls long jump; Butch Manary placing second in the junior boys discus; Tim Davies who captured third spot in senior boys pole vault; and Margie Newton who finished fourth in junior girls high jump.

The top five athletes at the Trenton games in each division, will be selected to attend the all Ontario finals.

Our column this week deals with birds and bird fanciers. Harold Crawford of the University of Guelph offers several suggestions on growing plants and bushes that will be attractive to birds during the summer as well as winter season.

For the birds

Birds and gardens go together. With a little extra thought, we can plan a landscape that includes features to provide birds with food and shelter, and provide us with the pleasure of their company.

The more variety in habitat we can include in our landscape, the greater the variety of birds we can expect to attract. Birds add song and sparkle to the garden in summer, and color to a grey winter landscape. The flash of a cardinal or blue jay on the January snow is a welcome relief.

With today's trend toward enjoying pleasures at hand rather than those of more costly travel, an interest in birds provides a fascinating and inexpensive hobby right in our backyard. With this in mind, we can consider some of the plants which will provide shelter, nesting places, and year-round food.

Autumn olive is a shrub with attractive berries favored by all berry-eaters, such as robins, waxwings and cardinals. It also makes a good nesting area. This shrub grows to a height of about 3 metres (10 feet). The leaves have silvery undersides, and the silver-red fruit is quite attractive, lasting well into winter. Autumn olive needs a sunny location, resists drought, and does not require high fertility. One of its closest relatives is the Russian olive. Its silvery berries provide food, and its branches provide lodging for a variety of birds. A large shrub, or a small tree, it has an unusual grey-white foliage. It too needs sun, and can withstand dry areas.

The dogwood group provides berries that can make excellent bird food for a wide range of birds in the fall. Some of the native dogwoods are the red-osier dogwood, silky dogwood, grey dogwood and the pagoda dogwood. All are shrub forms, except the pagoda dogwood, which develops into a small tree with a beautiful tiered form due to its horizontal branching habit. It prefers partial shade, and is a particular favorite of the crusted fly-catcher.

Most dogwoods prefer moist soil and some, like the red-osier dogwood, have attractive red stems that are especially showy against the winter snow. Another dogwood of ornamental and wildlife value is the cornelian cherry. This exotic shrub carries long, red, cherry-like fruits which attract berry-eaters in late summer and fall. It also gives a showy yellow splash of color in early spring, because the flowers appear before the leaves. As well as food, it provides a good nesting site.

You can count on Tatarian honeysuckle to provide attractive spring flowers and abundant, persistent, red or orange berries. It is easily grown, and is definitely among the "top ten" for food value. It offers a good nesting station for small birds.

Viburnum is another plant valuable for landscape use and for attracting birds. They offer the landscape attractive cream or white flowers and showy fruits. Probably the birds' favorite is the native maple leaf viburnum. They eat its rather meagre crop of blackberries quickly, leaving its purple fall color. This viburnum grows well in the shade. Other viburnums however are preferred for their beauty. Both the native high-bush cranberry and European high-bush cranberry offer a display of brilliant red fruit in fall and winter. The fruit is strongly flavored, but is sometimes eaten by birds after freezing and thawing. For the birds, it can be considered an emergency food supply. It reaches 4 metres (13 feet) in height. Other choice bird food plants from this group are the native arrowhead, nanny-berry and black haw.

Two plants appreciated by the birds, but not by the tidy gardener, are the red mulberry and the Manitoba maple. At least 52 species of birds rejoice at the ripe, though messy mulberries, and the weedy Manitoba maple carries seed all winter that is welcomed by evening grosbeaks. A more suitable pair of trees for the neat gardener is the mountain ash and the Japanese crab apple. The fruits of both last into late winter, if they are not eaten. The Japanese crab apple is a choice, disease-resistant, ornamental crab with small fruits, little litter, and beautiful pink buds and white flowers in spring.

O Canada, writers and music, on new issue

The music and stylized portraits of the composers of "O Canada" will be the subjects of a pair of commemorative stamps to be released by Canada Post on June 6.

The se tenant presentation in a miniature pane of 16 postage stamps instead of the usual 50 constitutes a special feature for this issue. The margin of each miniature pane will carry the message "Issued to celebrate Canada Day 1980". A Special souvenir envelope with the music on one side and the words in both French and English on the other will be handed out with each purchase of a full miniature pane.

One hundred years ago, the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec asked gifted musician Calixa Lavallee to compose the music, and Judge Alphonse-Basile Routhier to write the words for a national song that would first be heard on Saint-Jean-Baptiste Day, June 24 1880. The composition was an instant success and continued to be popular in Quebec from then on.

It wasn't until 1908, however, when Montreal lawyer Robert Stanley Weir wrote an English version, that O Canada became well known in the rest of the country.

Friederich Peter, graphic artist and teacher, of Vancouver, British Columbia, designed the stamps. One of the postage stamps represents the first five bars of O Canada and the other bears stylized portraits of Lavallee, Routhier and Weir. The stamps are designed using lively and bright colours, evoking a festive mood.

Sixty million 17-cent stamps will be printed in six-colour lithography by Ashton-Potter Limited, Toronto, Ontario.

Join the great blue heron count

The Ontario Heronry Inventory is seeking help from the public to record the location and size of all Great Blue Heron colonies in Ontario.

"We already have records for over 550 heronries, and 350 of these are currently occupied", said Joanne Siderius, project biologist. "This June and early July we intend to count nests within as many colonies as possible, and we need volunteers to help us do the counting. We magnificent and popular species.

"Censusing a colony is easy and enjoyable," Ms. Siderius and enjoyable," Ms. Siderius commented, "despite the fact that wet feet and mosquito bites are frequent side effects." Volunteers are assigned a colony, which they visit in June or early July when disturbance to the birds is minimal. Nesting trees are marked temporarily and nests are counted. Full instructions and record sheets are provided to volunteers. "This project is unique", remarked Ms. Siderius, "in involving volunteers in the collection of scientific information on the status of one of Ontario's most beautiful birds".

Anyone wishing to participate in the 1980 census of great blue herons as a censuser, or who can contribute information on the location of a colony, is asked to contact Joanne Siderius, Long Point Bird Observatory, P.O. Box 160, Port Rowan, Ontario NOE 1M0, or telephone her at 519-586-2909.

The Ontario Heronry Inventory is a joint project of the Ministry of Natural Resources, the Canadian Wildlife Service and the Long Point Bird Observatory, a private organization dedicated to ornithological research with headquarters located in Port Rowan, Ontario. Identifying important nesting sites and documenting the size of the great blue heron population is an important step towards protecting this Minden W.I.

On a beautiful day, May 21, twenty two Minden Women's Institute members and 3 guests met at the spacious home of the Mervin Bunkers on Highway 35, for their regular meeting. The usual reports were read and correspondence and the Card Convenor, Mrs. Moore, reported sending 31 cards since the last meeting. There was a report on our School Fair Exhibit and from now on the schools will co-operate with the Junior Chairman and the special list will be in the fair list and these will go to all public schools in our county.

Several Offices were filled, 1st vice-president Mrs. P. Clarke, Convenors:- of Citizenship and World Affairs, Mrs. M. Bunker and of Family and Consumer Affairs Mrs. M. Sears.

Delegates to District Annual were selected Mrs. C. Brown, Mrs. J. Hulbig, Mrs. Lyman Cox and Mrs. M. Bunker with Mrs. Clarke going as well. Some of the members had taken the time to appear in old fashioned or period costumes in keeping with this day's programmes. The PRO Report was given by Convenor Mrs. Sears and this gave us a good summary of the past Year's Good Publicity.

She also gave a report on the Tweedsmuir History Books and told of her visit to Public School as Curator and she also read a family history

by Jean Lacey

Hi! What's new? Not too much on this end of the line.

The lovely weather has been holding but still those pesky mosquitoes are around. Too bad someone couldn't invent something to take, so when the mosquito bit a person, the mosquito would itch, maybe then they would leave us alone.

Lee Oster and his mother are up to their cottage for a couple of weeks.

Clare Wright was up from Mississauga for the weekend visiting his parents also dropped in to see his aunt.

The men were out on Lake Kashagawigamog and caught a couple of nice lakers, 7 and 9 pounds.

So sorry to hear of the passing of Janet Smith. Our sympathies, condolences and prayers go out to her family and friends.

There will be a story and craft hour (free) at the Lutterworth Library when school is out. So will say more on that later.

Irene Moore,
P.R.O.

Get a good thing going.

service. Mrs. Agnes Taylor played the organ for us while we sang some familiar hymns.

After lunch, it was movie time. "Anatomy of Vacation" was a scenic picture filmed in Bermuda. We saw the abundance of flowers and wild fruits which grow on the island. The beaches are a wondrous work of nature. The sand is pinkish in colour and the light blue water was described by Mark Twain "as if the sky had fallen into the ocean". Interesting to note is a single cloud which hangs continually over the island. It is called the ghost of Morgan. It is a most relaxing vacation spot and many people go back year after year.

"Floral Heritage" was also a very picturesque movie filmed in South Africa. Three hundred miles from Cape Town is a rich garden where flowers flourish. There are over 20,000 spices and every year the number grows. There are 50,000 packets of seeds sent out in the mail each year with hopes that the flowers will multiply and live on. The miles of flowers is described as a tapestry of wonder.

Everyone seems to be enjoying the change of music at our fun and here.

fitness program. We would like to thank Fern Donnelly for the old time fiddle record. The toe tapping music certainly has everyone in a good mood by the end of the session.

The ladies of Tory Hill U.C.W. brought a delicious variety of sandwiches and cookies for the afternoon tea party on Thursday. It was nice to visit with the ladies and enjoy their homemade goodies.

Friday afternoon Grace Coburn was here to lead the sing song. Lucille Clarke came with Grace to accomany her on the piano. Singing is a good relaxing way to end the week of activities.

Senior Citizens week is drawing near, and we have many activities planned. Senior Citizens week is June 15 to 21 this year. One of the events is the annual Over 70's dinner. It will be held on June 17 at 5:30 p.m. The dinner is the one event that everyone enjoys and looks forward to every year.

The weather has been gorgeous this week and many residents have been seen walking around McKayville. We are all happy that the nice weather is finally here.

Minden delegates attend meetings

Theology students need more practical training in local churches was one of the suggestions that was discussed at the 56th Annual Meetings of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada.

The meetings were held from May 22 to May 25 at Duncan McArthur Hall in Kingston.

Reverend Douglas Miller of Minden attended the conference along with Mrs. Robert Herlihey and Mr. Norman Wallace, both of Minden.

Diane Cowen and Jimmy Tomlinson of Minden attended the special youth forum for Grade 12 students.

Rev. Miller said that it would be very important for the students to work with older and more experienced ministers in addition to studying university courses.

The new president of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada, Reverend Glenn Ashford, made a suggestion that during his term in office he hopes the Conference might resume the practice of meeting in local churches within the Conference rather than at college campuses.

Mr. Miller agrees with this idea saying, "We should take the conference out of the big institutions."

In addition, 14 candidates were Ordained or Commissioned at the closing service of the Conference.

AROUND THE TOWN

by Jeanne Sears

All their friends send good wishes to these people who are in hospital or have been there; Lola Stevenson, Sam LaBarge, Lola Prentice and Taylor Kernohan.

There have been draws made at Minden Red and White Store, winners were on May 17 for the Food Processor Marilyn Bagshaw and on May 24 for Slow Cooker Mrs. A. E. Price, R.R. 1 Minden.

The Len Lonsberry's had their family visiting them over the weekend on the occasion of their 34th wedding anniversary; congratulations to them.

Delegates to Women's Institute District Annual for Victoria East last Thursday were Mrs. C. Brown, Mrs. J. Hulbig, Mrs. L. Cox and Mrs. M. Bunker, with Mrs. P. Clarke and Mrs. V. Cowan also going.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of Mrs. Janet Smith and Mrs. Emily Smith whose funerals were since last week.

Dennis Moore of Base Borden spent the weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson enjoyed a visit with the Paul Cockburns at Woodville one day last week.

Birthdays to remember at Hyland Crest are those of Emma Stutt, June 3, Alice Pogue, June 10, Ethel Boice, June 17, Maud Miller, June 17, Emily Pritty, June 23, Ada Lewis, June 27th and Agnes Lansfield, June 27. This is a good excuse for a visit or just a phone call for their special day.

We noticed that there were many dragon flies in our yard, hope they really get their fill of mosquitoes and hopefully the black flies are over for another year.

Ain't it fine when things are going Topsy-turvy and askew To discover someone showing Good old-fashioned faith in you? Ain't it good when life seems dreary And your hopes about to end, Just to feel the handclasp cheery Of a fine old loyal friend? Gosh! One fellow to another,

Means a lot from day to day Seems we're living for each other

In a friendly sort of way. When a smile or cheerful greetin' Means so much to fellows sore, Seems we ought to keep repeatin' Smiles an' praises more an' more.

E. A. Guest.

Also notice that Mr. Brubacher and helpers are beautifying our village, marigolds in a bed, a new tree by the bridge, and across the river the benches for anyone to rest or just enjoy the scenery. We are surely lucky to have such an attractive setting.

Coming events are Horticultural Meeting Tuesday, June 3 at Municipal Hall upstairs at 7:30. Church Women to meet at United Church Hall Wednesday June 4 at 8 and Thursday afternoon W.I. Executive Meeting at Library at 1 p.m. to plan the programmes. A Bag Sale at St. Paul's Parish Hall June 6 from 2 - 4, upstairs.

Many of the stores on Main Street are having a face lift, with new paint or whole new entry, makes a great difference and hope everyone will help by keeping their litter in the boxes provided, remember - it's Your Town. Cheerio until next time.

Marilyn Bagshaw of R.R. 1 Minden was the first winner in the draw at Minden Red and White. Seen here with store manager Alan (Cub) Coneybeare, Marilyn was presented with a Phillips food processor valued at $159.
